

Dr. Marco Di Clemente (Aerospace Engineer, Ph.D. Theoretical and Applied Mechanics)

Former researcher at the Italian Aerospace Research Centre, he currently works as project manager at Italian Space Agency in Technologies and Engineering Unit, as responsible of Technology Office. He is involved in different programs of Earth Observation currently under development in both SAR and optical fields. He is Technical Advisor within the ECSS Technical Authority for Engineering; he is alternate member of Component Technology Board at ESA in the frame of the European Space Components Coordination board.