

Beatrice Carasi currently works as an applications engineer in the COMSOL Italian office, where she is also part of the local support team. Previously, she studied mechanical engineering at Politecnico di Milano and received her MS degree specializing in fluids engineering. She joined COMSOL in 2013.