

Luca Marchiol, PhD degree in Crop Production. Currently Associate Professor at the University of Udine (I). Director of 2nd degree laurea in "Environmental Analysis and Management" (LM-75), joint Master between the University of Udine and University of Trieste. Member of the PhD Course in Life Sciences (Univ. Trieste and Univ. Udine). LM teaches Ecosystems Ecology and Environmental Restoration. Current research activities are focused the relationships between engineered nanomaterials and plants, and potential use of ENMs in agriculture. Co-organizer of the workshop AgriNanoTechniques – NanoInnovation 2017. Author of more than 120 publications.