

Dr. Di Nicola has a Masters Degree in Biomolecular Science and a PhD in Industrial Biochemistry, earned at University of Milano.

He has worked in several companies in the field of biotech instrumentation with focus on systems development, support, and sales.

He joined ZEISS in 2012 where he is in charge of light microscopy sales and support for industrial and material applications in Italy.

