

State support measures for the transfer of nanotechnology and product promotion. Examples of an implementation

Igor POPKOV, Russian Nanoindustry Association

Abstract: In the report in question Mr Popkov is analyzing current problems of introduction nanotechnology products to the market focusing on the measures which the state authorities can implement to help in the promotion of the technologies. This report takes a realistic look at nanotechnology field and offers a road map of steps to overcome the challenges for each segment to realize its full potential especially using the governmental help in transfer of technology.