

Gennara Cavallaro has completed his PhD in Chemistry in 1993 at the University of Palermo. She works in the field of synthesis and functionalization of polymers for drug delivery and in the production of nanomedicine including polymeric micelles, conjugates, nanoparticles. She has published more than 150 papers in scientific journals at quite wide diffusion.